NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—Business activities in at least 1575 Manhattan office buildings were crippled today in New York's first general strike of elevator operators and maintenance workers since 1936.

NEW YORKERS WALKED TO WORK TODAY
And It Was Straight Up for Empire State Bldg. Workers

The long-threatened walkout came during the early morning rush hour when 11,000 workers dropped their chores in 975 buildings between 14th and 41st sts., but before noon the strike was extended to 300 additional buildings in the financial district and another 300 uptown.

Great throngs of office workers swarmed the lobbies of skyscrapers and the sidewalks outside. Thousands struggled up stairways that seemed endless, including those of the Empire State building, tallest structure in the world, which normally keeps 72 elevators busy.

Two men walked up 46 floors to their offices in the Empire State Building. They said the climb took 30 minutes.

Meanwhile union officials agreed to meet the regional War Labor Board late today to discuss mediation.

Thirty-three elevator operators left jobs in the 54-story Woolworth building. So did the dozen operators in the Flatiron building, once the tallest in New York.

Other buildings affected: 512 Seventh ave., 44 stories, 10 East 40th st., 44 stories; 498 Seventh ave., 24 stories; 500 Seventh ave., 18 stories.

Some noted buildings were unaffected including the 72-story Bank of Manhattan building, the 40-floor Equitable building, the 50-story Irving Trust building, Rockefeller center structures and the building at 570 Seventh ave. where the union has its headquarters on the 25th floor.

Swarms of women textile workers in the garment center around Sixth ave. and the upper 30's stood on sidewalks, apparently undecided whether to attempt walking up to places of work.

The Empire State's observation tower was announced as still open for business, but Lt. Gen. Hugh A. Drum (retired), president of Empire State, Inc., remarked that in the 16 years of the building's existence only one person had ever walked all the way up.

Mail deliveries to tall buildings were hampered. Postmen segregated mail for tenants in packages and left the bundles in lobbies.

For several months the maintenance workers and building owners have been involved in dispute. Today's strike resulted from the union's avowed "dissatisfaction" with a War Labor Board settlement.

The WLB's directive gave a $2.50 a week raise to apartment house employes and decreased weekly hours of work for employes in all buildings.

Walkouts at 2 Hub Oil Plants

Employes of two Shell Oil Co. plants in Waltham and Cambridge went on strike today, tying up company deliveries of gasoline and fuel oil in the Greater Boston area to points as far away as Framingham, Quincy, Lynn and Lowell.

Employes of the main distribution plant in Waltham walked out in protest against what they claimed was the discharge of their business agent for union activities. Those walking out included 20 drivers, mechanics and oil line service men.

Five yardmen and one driver walked out at the company's plant in Fifth st., Cambridge, demanding an additional 15 per cent wage increase over the general 15 per cent salary hike granted by the company Sept. 15.

Following a conference of Shell officials at the regional office in Stuart st., H. J. Woodward, New England division manager, said no notice of the strike had been received from the union. Executives said only 25 men were involved in both plants.

They pointed out that their contract with the Oil Workers' International Union (CIO) contained a "no-strike" clause as well as machinery for the settlement of all grievances without recourse to walkouts.

At the Waltham plant strikers claimed their walkout was based only on a protest against the discharge of Charles Martin, a truck driver and business agent of their union. They insisted he had been discharged without grounds and only because he was the business agent of the union.

They said they were interested in obtaining the same 52 hours' salary for 40 hours as was being sought by oil workers in the Middle West, but that this had nothing to do with their present walkout.

In the Cambridge plant, however, Yardman Prescott L. Friend, an official of Local 381 of the union, declared the men had walked out there because matters had "reached the boiling point."

He agreed that the company had granted them a 15 per cent wage increase for a 40-hour week in place of the 44 hours they had been working, but that they wanted 15 per cent more.

He also charged that a driver was discharged last Friday on the ground he had broken a truck meter. The union, he said, contends the meter's failure was mechanical.

The Cambridge plant is a lubricating depot where oil is packed in drums to be shipped to manufacturing plants within a 25-mile radius from Boston. All such shipments have been tied up by the walkout.

The Waltham plant distributes gasoline to filling stations throughout Greater Boston, and all shipments were tied up today as well as distribution of fuel oil by the Shell concern.

Hirohito Speeds Plan To Visit MacArthur

TOKYO, Sept. 24 (AP)—Well-informed Japanese sources said today Emperor Hirohito has arranged to pay a precedent-shattering call on Gen. MacArthur at the latter's residence, the American Embassy building. No date was specified.

NEW PREMIER — Posing with typical Japanese arrogance, Prince Naruhiko Higashikuni takes over the reins as new Jap prime minister. AP Wirephoto

The decision on a meeting place of conqueror and conquered was reached, these sources told Associated Press Correspondent Russell Brines, at a recent conference between MacArthur and Adm. Fujita, grand chamberlin.

Official confirmation was lacking, although a meeting of MacArthur and Hirohito long has been expected. If the Emperor goes to MacArthur's residence at the embassy, it would be the first time in modern history any Jap Emperor had gone to another ruler for an audience.

The Alied high command today blocked atomic-bomb research in Japan, directed rigid control of Jap economic life, including wages, prices and all traffic in currencies and negotiable assets, and moved toward a free press.

The news order directed the imperial government to remove itself completely from direct or indirect control of newspapers and news agencies.

Two other far-reaching directives aimed at freezing traffic in currencies and other negotiable assets to facilitate the "fingerprinting" of Japan's assets at home and abroad.

Prohibited are export or import of gold or silver coin; gold, silver and platinum bullion or currency, and securities, checks, bank drafts, bills of exchange, powers of attorney, proxies and any evidence of indebtedness or evidence of property ownership not specifically exempted.

MacArthur has vetoed appointment of Seihin Ikeda, former finance minister and former manager of the vast Mitsui interests, as president of the central liaison board.

Hirohito Fled Burning Palace

TOKYO, Sept. 24 (INS)—The Japanese imperial palace in Tokyo was wholly destroyed by fire on the night of May 25 of this year. Fifty members of the palace staff lost their lives.

Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako escaped injury because they had moved to a small concrete building on the ground when air raids were intensified.

Many of the royal family's personal effects, as well as priceless art treasures, were destroyed by the fire, which swept rapidly through the 50-year-old wooden building.

TRUCK DRIVER KILLED

GLOUCESTER, Sept. 24 (INS)—Alfred J. Gallant, 34, was killed today when his fruit truck went out of control and struck a tree.

Chrysler, Oil Firms In Move to Mediate

Chrysler Corp. today became the first member of the automobile industry's Big Three to announce a conference with the union leaders on labor's demand for a 30 per cent wage increase.

The announcement came as the United Automobile Workers (CIO) reported an overwhelming majority of Chrysler employes favored strike action in polls taken in several states and as more than 90,000 were idle in labor disputes in the Detroit area.

A ray of hope shone in the oil workers' strike which has confronted the nation with the possibility of an acute shortage of gasoline and fuel oil.

Spokesmen for the Oil Workers International Union, CIO, expressed confidence that their dispute with the oil companies over their demand for a 30 per cent wage increase would be settled at the conference opening in Chicago tomorrow.

In the Pacific Northwest 60,000 lumber workers struck, joining the more than 225,000 idle in the nation, 80,000 of them in Detroit, mostly in the automotive industry.

The management-union negotiations are scheduled to get under way tomorrow—the day set for petitioning the National Labor Relations Board for a strike vote among Chrysler workers.

Pilot Dies Hero, 5 Bail Out

Remaining heroically at the controls of his doomed bomber to prevent it from plunging into a populated area, an Army major crashed to a flaming death on a fairway of Mt. Hood golf course in Melrose today. Five others of the crew parachuted to safety in scattered sections of Malden, Melrose and Saugus after being ordered by the pilot to "bail out."

Survivors identified the heroic pilot as Maj. Doak A. Weston, 30, of Denver, Colo., only recently returned from two years of service overseas in which he emerged unscathed from 35 combat missions.

He died as his flaming B-25 bomber, steadily losing altitude, crashed and exploded on the golf course, shearing off the side of the home of Roland Hancock, Mt. Hood golf pro, and setting a bedroom on fire.

The bomber was on a routine operational flight from Grenier Field in Manchester, N. H., intending to fly to Bangor, Me., after circling Greater Boston.

"We were at about 10,000 feet altitude," he said, "when the left engine caught fire. We feathered the prop and tried to extinguish the fire, but it kept gaining headway and we were losing altitude steadily.

Maj. Weston decided to start the engine again in the hope it might help extinguish the fire. We gained some altitude and climbed to about 4000 feet but the fire kept gaining.

"The major saw that the flames were going to set the whole plane afire and he gave the order to bail out. He said he was going to try to get a little more altitude and then try for an emergency landing in some open space, so the plan would not do a lot of damage to a residential or populated section.

"The other five of us hit the silk and we could see the plane was continuing to lose altitude. We saw one engine and a wing drop off and then it plunged."

The motor struck on the sixth green of the golf course, boring six feet into the ground.

As the plane crashed, it exploded, strewing wreckage all along the eighth fairway.

One chunk of burning wreckage sheared off an upper side of Hancock's home and set fire to the bedroom, causing extensive damage. No one was in the house at the time.

Two golfers, Metropolitan Patrolman Harold Cook of Bradstreet ave., Revere, and M. M. Montgomery, were playing on the second fairway

They rushed over but the heat was too intense for them to get near the wreckage and they were forced to stand by. Maj. Weston was believed to have been killed instantly in the crash and explosion.

Fire apparatus from Malden, Melrose, Wakefield and Saugus, which had been following the course of the bomber, soon arrived at the scene but firemen, too, were prevented for a time by the heat from getting near the wreckage.

The five survivors, who landed at widely scattered spots, all were taken to the scene of the tragedy after first going to Melrose police headquarters.

The two surviving officers landed in Malden, at a gasoline filling station on an extension of the International highway near the start of the Newburyport turnpike. Both were shaken but uninjured.

Sgt. Paquin landed in a wooded area of Saugus, about a quarter-mile from the turnpike, crashing down into a tree in which his parachute became entangled, leaving him dangling from a branch.

Mrs. Kathleen Gilbert of Essex st., Saugus, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ruth Gilbert, saw Paquin dangling head downward from the tree and rushed through underbrush to aid him, suffering arm and leg lacerations in making their way through the thick growth.

They were aided by Lester MacArthur of Bellevue st., Newton, who clambered up the tree and cut the shrouds to allow Paquin to right himself and drop to the ground.

Sgt. McDonald landed in the midst of Newburyport turnpike traffic near Upham st., Melrose, and fell to the ground unconscious.

A truck driver picked him up to rush him to Melrose Hospital but he recovered on the way and dropped off instead at Melrose headquarters.

Sgt. Miller landed in Malden, near the Melrose line.

Hundreds saw the plane, obviously in distress, flying low over Revere, Malden and Saugus, smoke trailing from one motor.

Then they saw a sheet of flame seemingly envelop the entire plane and tiny figures leaping out and plunging downward until the billowing of parachutes arrested their rapid descent.

Woman Golfer First to Call Aid

Credit for prompt arrival of ambulances at the scnee of the crash was given to Mrs. Alice Lerner of Fairview ave., Melrose, who happened to have a nickel in her golf jacket and plenty of presence of mind.

Mrs. Lerner was stepping from the clubhouse when she saw the plane, flames spreading along the fuselage. She ran into the clubhouse to a telephone booth and had the Melrose fire department on the line just about the time the big bomber crashed.

Golfer's Eyewitness Story of Air Tragedy

The two golfers nearest to the spot where the big bomber crashed were M. M. Montgomery of Beach st., Revere, and his partner, Harold E. Cook, a Metropolitan police patrolman, of Bradstreet ave., Beachmont.

Montgomery gave the following eyewitness description:

"We were on the third green when I looked up at the plane, some distance off. One man leaped out and started to float down, after which two others took to their parachutes.

"When the third man left the ship, I saw a little flame shooting out along the undercarriage. A fourth man then jumped and the flames began to spread rapidly.

"It was only about 20 seconds later that there was a big burst of flame and the left wing fell off. Right then the ship peeled off to the left and began a roaring dive toward the golf course.

"The ship was in flames from the nose to the tail and then she struck. With the explosion there was a sheet of flame for 100 feet in all directions. It was a bright, white flame and parts of the ship flew in every direction.

"It was pretty awful."

Mom to Live; Hope Rises as GI Flies Home

"George is coming home, Ma. He's flying all the way from China. Gen. Hurley, the Ambassador, is bringing him back in his own plane. He may be home tonight, Ma. Tomorrow, anyway."

On her death bed in Malden Hospital, Mrs. Marion Rauseo was too weak to answer with words this message from her son, Michael. But her eyes responded. She opened them and glanced about the room, at her family.

Her husband, Pasquale, was there; her daughter, Mrs. Mary Annetti, son Nicholas, standing next to his brother, and her daughter-in-law, Viola, George's wife. She eyed them all and then glanced again at Michael.

"Ma," he said, louder this time. "George is coming. Coming home."

Cpl. G. Rauseo

Mrs. Rauseo smiled wanly, briefly, then closed her eyes as if to dream.

And that was how the dying mother learned today that a reunion with her son, Cpl. George Rauseo, 22, of Madison st., Malden, is now only about 24 hours away.

In failing health since she was injured in an auto accident nine months ago, and now barely clinging to life, Mrs. Rauseo has constantly expressed a desire to see the boy who went to war in the China-Burma-India theater 19 months ago.

Doctors said the news of George's homecoming acted like a tonic on the patient with a telling effect far beyond the powers of any medicine, blood transfusion or miracle drug.

"She'll live now," they assured the family. "The boy will make it if everything goes all right."

Anxiously, the Rauseos awaited

150 Cripples Drill, 50 Flee Canton Fire

Fifty employes fled from the administration building of Massachusetts Hospital School, Randolph st., Canton, today, when fire severely damaged the three-story brick structure, one of 12 buildings composing the hospital unit.

More than 150 crippled boys and girls responded to an air raid warning which directed them to assemble at their respective dormitories in order their safety might be assured.

The blaze originated in a corner of the attic, completely destroying the roof and leaving the building badly burned throughout its interior.

Firemen had to run hose for 1500 feet because an emergency supply kept on hand for such emergencies was quickly exhausted.

3000 in Nazi PW Gas March

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

LUENEBERG, Germany, Sept. 24 (AP)—A Polish Jewess today told how 3000 women at Oswiecim concentration camp were lined up naked by the camp commandant and selected for a Christmas Day parade to the gas chamber.

Testifying at the trial of 45 Nazis charged with prison camp atrocities, Mrs. Spohia Litwinska, 28, of Lublin, said she lived through the horors of the lethal chamber because she was mysteriously pulled out at the last moment on Christmas Day, 1941.

"Who was in charge of that parade?" the prosecutor asked.

"Commandant Hesler," she shouted, pointing to a defendant. "He is a murdered responsible for the death of thousands."

"We were lined up naked while Hessler and two doctors made selections for the gas chamber. The victims were then loaded into trucks and hauled to the crematorium where they were dumped out like potatoes.

"They filed into the gas chamber, which looked like a shower room. Inside there were cries, tears—people were shaking and striking each other. Then I noticed yellow fumes entering the room. I had a violent coughing spell. My name was called. I raised my arm, for my voice would not answer. Then someone pulled me out of the chamber, I don't know who. Later Hessler covered me in a blanket and took me on a motorcycle to the hospital."

"Were you given an explanation of why you were taken from the chamber?" the prosecutor asked.

"I arrived in camp in a transport that had come from a prison, which apparently made a difference. Also, I was the wife of a Polish army officer."

"What effect has the gas had on you?"

"I have frequent headaches, heart trouble and tears fill my eyes in fresh air."

Overhead floodlights flashed on and she was led in front of the prisoners' cage. She identified 16 as guilty of atrocities at the camp, including the Belsen camp commandant, Josef Kramer, Hessler and Irma Grese.

"Number 33 (Ilse Forster) beat to death a young girl," she testified.

An East Boston man was sentenced to two years in jail for an attempted criminal attack and Judge John E. Swift praised his victim in superior court for "her womanhood in refusing compensation and being interested in protecting other women."

Miss Mildred Maluda, 21, of Mt. Vernon st., Beacon Hill, blonde and attractive waitress, testified an attempt at a settlement with her had been made by couns.l for John Souza, 32, of Saratoga st., East Boston, but she refused. Atty. Joseph M. McDonough admitted an effort to settle the case.

Souza pleaded guilty after her testimony that she was attacked as she walked home across Boston Common on Aug. 30. She said she fought off her attacker and her screams brought aid from a merchant mariner and a civilian, who captured Souza.

U. S., Britain Agree on Oil

LONDON, Sept. 24 (AP)—Conclusion of a tentative British-American oil agreement covering worldwide export of petroleum by British and American oil companies was announced today.

The agreement provides for a treaty which must be accepted by both governments to be effective. It would not be concerned with domestic oil production in the United States, but sets forth the principle of equal opportunity for both countries in exploration and development of oil concessions throughout the world.

A result of discussions begun by Sec. Ickes and British Fuel Administrator Shinwell last week, the proposed pact would create a committee to recommend practices to be employed in development of British and American oil holdings in such important producing areas as the middle-east and South America.

The police captain added that Moreau had told him he had used a jackknife to slip open the lock, and also quoted the defendant as saying that others had been "in" on the alleged thefts.

Police Rout 3 Bandits From $7500 Cash Loot

Three armed bandits, wanted for the $7500 robbery of the Pepsi-Cola Co. in Brighton, were surprised by Norwood police today in the woods off Providence turnpike as they worked to open the safe containing the loot.

Leaping into their car and abandoning the safe containing the money, the trio drove through bushes to the main road under a hail of bullets fired by the four officers. Before the police could reach the road the bandit car was gone in the direction of Boston.

Boston police were notified and officers from Jamaica Plain and West Roxbury posted guards on all roads leading into the city from the southwest and west.

The car, badly battered by the drive through the woods, was last seen racing along Washington st., Dedham.

The Pepsi-Cola plant, in Soldiers Field rd., was broken into and the watchman, George McKenzie of Flint st., Somerville, threatened with death when he found the trio working on the safe in the office.

Norwood police said the safe was still closed and the contents intact. Police from Brighton station took the remains of the strongbox and burglar tools found in the woods to study them for fingerprints.

A bumper and the rear fender of the bandits' car were ripped off during their wild ride through the woods.

Patrolmen Francis Riley and Edison Scholtz came upon the bandits when they were searching near Pleasant and Nahatan sts., Norwood, after a truck stolen from the Pepsi-Cola plant was found near by.

McKenzie said the bandits fired two shots at him when he discovered them working on the safe in the office. He said they tied him to a chair while they worked to remove the safe.

Not content with taking the safe's contents, they broke into a supply room and took away a $600 acetylene system, announcing they would need it for their next job.

The Pepsi-Cola plant job was the seventh in Boston during the last two weeks by the talented gang.

McKenzie described the bandits as each about 28 years old. He said one was tall and two were short. All had their faces smudged under their masks to further conceal any identifying marks.

Will Each Dog Have His Dye?

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 24 (AP)—It's an undisputed fact that if you hang around Hollywood long enough you'll see everything. Where else would you find a girl who dyes her dog to match her clothes?

The girl with the colored canine is Jean Porter, the pretty little MGM actress. She says the dog, a Maltese poodle named Cuddles, enjoys being colored.

"I use vegetable coloring which is perfectly harmless," Jean said, "and she really loves it. She knows it when she is colored and struts around showing off. Pink is her favorite."

Mind you, this is no Hollywood affectation. It started several years ago when Jean was a girl in Big Spring, Tex.

"I don't know what gave me the idea. Maybe it was because I had a lot of colored pottery animals and I wanted our poodle to look like them. One day while the folks were away I dipped the dog in a tub of vegetable coloring."

Jean says she colors her dog about every two weeks. I asked if she (Jean) would then have to wear the same color for two weeks.

"If I were going out with the dog, I would either have to wear the same color or a contrasting color."

For obvious reasons, Miss Porter has no plaids in her wardrobe.

"It is a matter of record," said a nearby press agent, "that Miss Porter converted three men to Alchoholics Anonymous when she walked down Vine st. with her green dog."

"Please," Jean said, "it was chartreuse."

Emily Hahn Waits Arrival Of Prison Lover to Wed

CHICAGO, Sept. 24 (AP)—Emily Hahn, author of several books on the Far East, said today she expects to marry British Army Maj. Charles Boxer, father of her 4-year-old daughter, Carola, as soon as he arrives in America from Hongkong.

In her book, "China to Me," Miss Hahn told of her romance with Boxer, and of their daughter's birth in Hongkong while both were interned in a Japanese prison camp.

"I don't know how soon he will arrive," she said today. "I had another cable and he said he'd come when he could. He was head of military intelligence in Hongkong and has to stay to give information on war criminals. I imagine he'll dock in San Francisco, and if so, he says he wants to be married there."

School Strike Settled by Wily Grandpa

BURLINGTON, Sept. 24—Grandfather Robert E. Lovely is a smooth operator when it comes to handling rebellious teenagers, as he demonstrated today when he led 38 "striking" high school students back to their lessons.

The boys had refused to report for classes this morning because they had'nt been allowed to have a high school football team, were denied the use of their gymnasium and didn't have a student council.

When Grandfather Lovely got wind of their action he found that his grandson, Ronald Bustead was one of those who had put a pox upon studies until such time as the high school had a football team.

Grandfather Lovely clapped a hat on his gray thatch and headed for the center. He found the strikers assembled outside the town hall, pretty defiant of adults, too.

"Why," he told them, after innocently inquiring what was going on, "of course you ought to have a football team."

This virtually won him membership in good standing.

He agreed on the gym and student council issues as well. This got him in so solid that when he suggested the thing to do was to file back and see School Supt. Raymond E. Perkins, who might listen to a little reason, the strikers saw the logic of it.

Grandpa Lovely went with them. They had a conference in the superintendent's office.

When the boys came out they declared they had won what they wanted. Supt. Perkins told them they could play football if they would get their parents' written permission.

First of Family Buried as Polio Strikes Second

Funeral services for Donald Poirier, 9, of Wachusett st., Jamaica Plain, an infantile paralysis victim, will be held tomorrow in the Church of St. Andrew the Apostle, but his 8-year-old brother, Robert, will not be able to attend them.

Donald died Saturday morning. Robert was taken to Children's Hospital the same morning, a victim of the same disease.

Interment for Donald, who was ill only three days, will be in Mt. Benedict Cemetery, West Roxbury.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oveila Poirer, have another son, Douglas, 3; a daughter, Evelyn, 6, and a baby girl, Carol Ann, who is a month old.

Fourteen more cases of infantile paralysis have been reported in the State since Friday, health authorities disclosed today. Six were recorded in Boston, bringing to 75 the number for the year to date.

Dr. Merrill D. Champion, head of the Division of Communicable Diseases, State Department of Health, said the total for the state thus far in 1945 is 317, as compared to 270 for the corresponding date last year.

Young Chelsea Sisters Vanish

Eleven-year-old Nellie Batchelder of Leverett st., West End, and her sister, Donna, 9, pupils of the Shurtleff School, Chelsea, have been missing since 5 p. m. yesterday, their mother, Mrs. Ann Batchelder, told police today.

The girls have been living at the Chelsea Day Nursery and customarily coming home for weekends. They left their home Sunday with $10 for their weekly expenses, but did not arrive at the nursery.

Bans 'Uncle Tom's Cabin'

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., Sept. 24 (AP)—City Comptroller Perry W. Rodman, managing director of the Klein Memorial, said today he had cancelled performances of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," slated for Sept. 25 "due to opposition of the CIO of Bridgeport, Negro community leaders, the Communist Party and the Bridgeport Pastors' Ass'n.

The Bridgeport Industrial Union Council (CIO) asked the cooperation of Mayor Jasper McLevy to prevent showing of the play, based on Harriet Beecher Stowe's novel of slave days in the South, claiming it "refreshed memories that tend to portray only the weaknesses of a racial minority and holds up to ridicule peoples who in the early days of our country were unfortunately subjected to exposures that today would be considered atrocious."

FLUCTUATING FASHION

Fickle as an east wind — capricious as a rainbow — fantastically kaleidoscopic — whether you term it fashion, style, mode or vogue — it's that intangible force that so tangibly dominates life itself. Fleeting as time, we have difficulty keeping pace with it. Just as the almighty dollar rules in the world of finance—so almost every other sphere is influenced by Fashion. How we live, what we do, how we play. Didn't the discovery of Vitamins just a few years back make us all sun-worshipers—Along comes boogie-woogie and music goes modern with swing — aeroplanes make for new methods of travel through the stratosphere — and among other things take nylon—those in the know predict future fashion fireworks with this magical fabric that will affect many phases of our daily life. What has all this to do with the bargain business you ask? We're in business to sell clothes—all the clothes we can at bargain prices—and to do it successfully we keep our eyes on the fashion pulse with as much zeal as we watch the cash register. To do a good business in bargains—you've got to have what the people want, when they want it, at the price they want to pay. To get out and track down FASHION just when it's most wanted and sell it off-price is no cinch in this competitive age. Popularity creates demand — demand usually increases price—but to have corduroy dresses and gabardine suits—alligator handbags and towering hats when they are all the rage and price them LOWER than normal is no mere triviality. Where do the bargain experts get the Fashion Confections at prices sometimes fantastically LOW—samples and studio designs that had their origination in leading style centers —Paris, Hollywood, Palm Beach, New York—Famous Brands that sound like a pedigreed list of who's who—surpluses of exclusive specialty shops, many with world wide reputations for clothes fashions—unusual imported goods? So if "fine feathers" are your specialty keep your eyes on the World's One and Only Automatic Bargain Basement that brings you clothes with fashion UN-extravagantly priced where our automatic plan forces bargains even in HIGH fashions to be LOW priced!

Chief Demands Public Hearing

MANSFIELD, Sept. 24—John Haines, ousted police chief of this town, today demanded a public hearing to defend himself against 21 charges listed by Town Mgr. James F. S. Shurtleff as reasons for his removal, and said he would fight the charges with all means afforded him under the civil service law.

U. S. War Surplus Plans Told

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—President Truman has decided to place the State Department in control of the gigantic problem of disposing of billions of dollars in war-time surpluses throughout the world. Senators learned this today from John W. Snyder, director of war mobilization and reconversion, as he outlined Administration plans.

In Europe alone, Snyder told the special Senate war investigating committee, there are 6,000,000 tons of surplus materials worth about $1000 a ton. He was unable to guess at the quantity or cost of surplus war goods in the Pacific.

Snyder told senators: "The President has made a decision to unify all these activities in the state department.

"In practical terms, this involves transferring to the department the disposal functions of the Army-Navy liquidation commission, and the lend-lease functions of the foreign economic administration."

He said detailed plans for streamlining the surplus disposal were being perfected and the "transfer itself will take place at the earliest practicable date."

Disposal of surplus war property in this country is handled by the surplus property administration. President Truman's nomination of V. Stuart Symington to replace the present three-man board as sole administrator of such disposals is awaiting senate confirmation.

Snyder said surpluses abroad would go to nations most in need but added the question of payment was extremely difficult.

"We can't expect dollars," he said.

He explained "local currencies" were available in some nations but the United States must accept other things, such as: commercial good will, traveling fellowships or foundations for scientific and cultural research, or additional facilities for diplomatic representatives.

This nation also is willing to trade surplus goods for "commercial and military rights," he said.

He cited present negotiations with the British as an example. He said talks with the British were "about general commercial arrangements, general financial arrangements, lend-lease stocks, overall lend-lease settlements, and the disposal of surplus property in the United Kingdom."

Snyder said that British-American financial talks were complex but were being "handled in an orderly, coordinated fashion."

Asst. Secretary of State Will Clayton is directing State Department pohcy for numerous federal agencies involved in negotiations.

Snyder drew commendation from Chairman Mead (D.) of New York of the investigating group when he promised a detailed inventory on all surplus war goods in Europe within 30 days.

Sudden collapse of the Japs complicated the surplus problem, he said, and "there was an inevitable period of confusion."

Queries Beset Red Cross On Delay in Veterans' Mail

Thousands of letters to parents and wives, written by New Englanders abroad in the armed forces, are being delayed so long in delivery that more than 100 anxious queries are flowing into Red Cross headquarters here every month, it was disclosed today.

Red Cross officials said the families of men in the Pacific are complaining that although their menfolk wrote at frequent intervals before V-J Day, their letters now arrive at the rate of one every two months.

Letters from Europe are similarly delayed. One parent reported:

"The boys are being told, when they arrive at big evacuation camps such as Camp Lucky Strike and Camp Twenty Grand, in France, they might as well not write because they will be leaving 'next day' and will beat their own letters home.

"This goes on from day to day. The boys don't write—and worst of all, they don't get mail, for they have no permanent addresses. Mail sent to them comes back marked 'Soldier returning to U. S.'"

Only possible communication is through Western Union. Cables, if the boy arranges to pick up such cables at the European office.

Army and Navy spokesmen said delay in delivery of mail from abroad might be caused by the need for space on troopships.

Red Cross officials said it was their policy to investigate, when requested, the whereabouts of any serviceman whose family reported no mail from him over a three-month period.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—I have a brother in the Navy whom I haven't heard from since he left to go to sea prior to V-J Day. Is there a bureau that I could write to for information regarding his safety? M. L., Revere.

Q—My husband is 37 years old and has served 18 months in Army, 13 of which were overseas. Has been wounded and his point score is 62. Being also the father of two children do you think he has a chance of getting home soon? M. M., Dorchester.

A—According to advice from War Dept. sources it might be expected that your husband will receive a discharge from the service within the next two months.

Q—I am veteran of several Pacific campaigns and have made application for discharge on basis of over-age. Is it correct that getting discharge on over-age will not be given mustering-out pay? I read in another paper, not the Record-American, that such benefit is denied those getting over-age discharges. Is this true? F. G., Camp Edwards.

A—You are entitled to $300 mustering-out pay. All veterans seeking release under over-age regulations are receiving this benefit.

Q—We have not heard from our brother for nearly four months. Can you please tell me how I can find out where he is or if anything might have happened? R. A., East Boston.

A—Suggest that you contact Adjutant General's Office, War Dept., Wash., D. C., also might ask Home Service Bureau of Red Cross to help check for you.

Q—A soldier in the service for almost three years and 35 years of age in November, 1945, when he applies for discharge will the Army keep him for 90 days? E. M. L., Fall River.

A—The present policy is to discharge men in that category as promptly as possible. There may be some delay if the man is overseas or in an essential position, but there is no regulation which requires that a man obtaining discharge on this basis wait a period of 90 days if it is possible to discharge him sooner than that.

Polka Wins

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—The jump and jive of the jitterbugs has to take a back seat to the polka as far as action is concerned.

General Electric Co. scientists report that vibration meter tests of the atmosphere of a dancing studio registered the polka at 170 miles per second. The best the jitterbugs could do was 120 vibrations.

Mail Buddy Gifts Now, P. O. Urges

If you had the privilege of bringing Christmas cheer last year to some lonely overseas serviceman or woman, remember that this year, it is all the more important to pay someone else this year the tribute due to victory and peace. And now is the time to enroll in the Christmas Gifts for Buddies Overseas campaign, sponsored by the Boston Record-American Sunday Advertiser.

The deadline for mailing all Christmas packages overseas is Oct. 15, and the postoffice department would appreciate fast work on your part, to avoid last minute crowding of the mails.

Here is a letter from a woman in Bennington, Vt., who realizes the value of this campaign:

"Last year I sent in for a serviceman's name, so that I could send him a Christmas gift. And I can proudly say that in doing so I made a soldier's Christmas cheerful. He wrote to me for quite a while afterward.

"I would like to send a gift to another serviceman this year. It makes me feel pretty swell to be able to say I cheered a lonely serviceman on Christmas Day."

All packages this year are being mailed directly to the chaplains of all faiths who are on duty at Navy bases and Army installations throughout the Pacific and Atlantic areas. The chaplains will deliver these gifts to the lonely servicemen in their outfits.

Fill out the coupon accompanying this article, and you will receive a label bearing the name and address of an overseas chaplain.

GI Flight

news from the Army Transport Command about the progress of the C-54 winging eastward across the vast Pacific. The plane left the Philippines at 7:40 a. m. Sunday and is due at San Francisco sometime this afternoon. The ship then is to fly directly to New York.

Except for announcement that the diplomatic plane is on schedule, her position since leaving the Philippines has not been disclosed.

The Malden GI was taken aboard in Chungking when Gen. Hurley learned that he had received word his mother was dying and there wasn't any transportation available.

The 10,000-mile transpacific trip of the Hurley plane is truly a mercy flight, for the ambassador also made room aboard for a pretty embassy clerk, en route home to convalesce from an appendectomy.

He even arranged for fitting a stretcher-type hospital bed in the plane for the girl.

Their mother's reaction to George's flight home cheered the Rauseo family today. They are praying fervently that he will be successful in his race against death.

"We didn't want to tell her at first, because we didn't want to let her know how seriously sick she really is," Mrs. Mary Annetti said. "We thought she might be upset. But the news seemed to make her stronger."

Two other Rausea boys are also on their way home, Angelo from his Merchant Marine base in New York, and Joseph, a Marine, from Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Still another son, Arthur, is in the Pacific and the Red Cross is attempting to get word to him.

George's wife, Viola, is waiting anxiously because his arrival will give the soldier first opportunity to see his year-old son, Stephen. Viola and George were married three years ago this month.

Scattered Wreckage Attests to Force of Bomber Crash in Melrose

INJUSTICE TO VETERANS

THE VARIETY of methods by which obstruction of veterans' affairs and rights is being accomplished in bureaucratic Washington has become a great annoyance and is causing greater injustice.

The Veterans' Committee of the House of Representatives has pointed out that such vital agencies as the Veterans' Administration are unreasonably and unnecessarily "starved" for both office facilities and workers.

In the words of the committee:

"Emergency agencies that have completed their purpose should be forced to move, close or consolidate, if for no other purpose than to release office space and personnel to the Veterans' Administration.

"Any program must have employes to carry it out, and these employes must have necessary office space in which to perform their duties.

"Veterans and their families cannot wait and should not be asked to wait months for the benefits which have accrued, or the employment to which they are entitled.

"The veteran whose mind or body was injured in combat should not be expected to stand by for months for the government to REDEEM ITS PLEDGES to him."

This situation has the appearance of a policy of preference in government employment to the disadvantage of veterans, when the proper intent of Congress and the insistent demand of the American people are that the advantage of the veteran is the primary concern of government and that any policy of preference should be IN HIS FAVOR.

THE NATIONAL Legislative Director of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Mr. Omar B. Ketchum, has called attention to still another of the bureaucratic methods of obstruction which are against the advantage and interest of veterans.

Mr. Ketchum discloses that many honorably discharged veterans are actually being THROWN OUT of government employment, while temporary war appointees are retained.

"Evidence coming to this office," he reports, "confirms that the reduction-in-force policy of the Civil Service Commission VIOLATES THE SPIRIT AND INTENT of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944.

"Temporary war service appointees to high grades in Civil Service are being retained, while veterans who hold permanent appointments in the lower-paid grades are being released.

"They have even taken some non-veterans who held permanent appointments in lower grades before the war, given them temporary war service appointments to higher grades, and now that personnel is being released are restoring them to permanent grades while LETTING VETERANS GO."

CONGRESS should look into this situation, for indifference to the special rights and interests of veterans and discrimination against veterans constitute a special CHALLENGE to Congress.

Congress has already passed a considerable volume of preferential legislation for the benefit of veterans, and is expected to make the veterans' program even more comprehensive and beneficial.

But if bureaucratic evasion is to be permitted to DEFEAT the intent of Congress, no amount of beneficial legislation will be of value to the veterans.

ON NIGHTS in New York when there is a full moon, the evil doers are much more active than usual. The number of crimes increases. So says a member of the police force who has checked on this situation for years. In addition, on these nights the quarrelsome become more quarrelsome and arrests for disturbing the peace increase. Also, on these full-moon nights more middle-aged married men become involved with shady ladies and lose their bankrolls and jewelry. Keep this latter in mind, lady. If you have an impressionable middle-aged husband, don't let him out of your sight on a moonlight night.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS. Q.—Ever see Denman Thompson in "The Old Homestead?" A.—No, sir, I missed that one, I never saw James A. Herne in "Shore Acres," either. But I know about those shows. My mother and father were great theatrical fans and so were all my uncles and aunts . . . Q.—I say every state requires a blood test before marriage now. My friend says Missouri does not. A.—You are both wrong, so you better send the stogies to me. Many States do not require such a test but Missouri does. Q.—The song, "Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe," is near the top in the Hit Parade. I claim this railroad was mentioned in another hit song. My cute little wife, who is also a little stubborn, says not. Settle this, Edward, and bring peace to our little gray home in the West. A.—I believe in that lively hit song, "Casey Jones, there was a verse as follows:

Casey said before he died
There was one more road he'd like to ride.
Fireman asked: "What might that be?"
Casey said:
"The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe."

CHECKER: Being quite a checker on dinner checks, I asked the waiter after examining mine last night: "What's the 25 cents for?" said he: "That's for the lady not having a drink. If a customer does not have a highball or cocktail there is an extra charge of 25 cents." Imagine that, being charged for not drinking! But why 25 cents? Probably that represents the profit on a drink. No wonder the restaurant maestros consider their bar receipts so important.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—The myth of generosity and charity surrounding the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt has endeared him to the "common man" so warmly that some of those who accepted the role of the "protected" under a "protector" cannot even tolerate a discussion of him.

Westbrook Pegler

We certainly know that, millionaire though he was, he picked on Jesse Jones, another millionaire, and a member of his Cabinet, to settle enormous debts which his son, Elliott, had incurred by borrowing.

Objective judgment must admit that, in doing so, President Roosevelt exploited the Presidency somewhat for the benefit of his son, even though it be maintained that when they lent the money, the lenders were unmindful of the President's power to help or hurt them.

As samples of the "common man's" feelings I quote from routine letters:

"I have read you a few times and have found it very disgusting and degrading," says one. "Your cracks and slurring remarks about our late President make me sick. Wishing you all my worst regards, You Rat."

Another says: "I get the blues when I read the stuff you wrote about the past President. Why didn't you write that stuff when he was here?"

As to the challenge in the second mash-note I must say I wish the facts had been in hand in time. I should like to have heard Mr. Roosevelt's answer.

But, referring to Mr. Roosevelt's reputation for philanthropy, what evidence have we to support it and what evidence to the contrary?

His name, attached to Warm Springs, was glorified by the charity of millions of "little people" but with no affirmation that he, personally, ever gave away five dollars. The Warm Springs campaign was started by Henry L. Doherty, who had reason to apprehend that his great public utility interests would be attacked by the New Deal.

By suggestion from the White House, Doherty organized this propaganda and advanced more than $50,000 of his own money to get it under way, with great credit to Roosevelt for "lending his birthday" to children suffering from polio.

The "loan" of the birthday was hit upon by Carl Byoir, the public relations man, who ran the propaganda for Doherty and who had seen some such sentimental invention somewhere in Barrie.

IF CALLED UPON by proper authority, John J. Raskob, an "economic royalist" of the duPont interests, might testify that he had to post a huge personal guarantee to protect Roosevelt's Warm Springs investment ere Roosevelt would consent to run for Governor on Al Smith's ticket in 1928.

Roosevelt went to Boston just before election last fall and dwelt on his great old friendship for Al Smith, who had only contempt for him in recent years but, by then, was dead.

In this speech he said he ran for Governor at Smith's request but he didn't mention Raskob's check.

John Flynn, in his biographical work, "Country Squire in the White House," said Roosevelt tried to plant his political and personal secretary, Louie Howe, on the New York State public payroll at $5000 a year in the guise of secretary to the Taconic State Park Commission, of which Roosevelt was an honorary member.

He said that Robert Moses, a public servant of the most meticulous standards of duty, as State Park Commissioner, was willing to appoint Howe until Howe explained that he could spend only a few hours a week doing work for the public.

"Moses became incensed at this," Flynn wrote. "He refused to appoint Howe and sent word to Roosevelt that he was crazy if he thought he could put his own personal secretary on the public payroll."

Not doubting Mr. Flynn, I nevertheless thought it proper to ask Mr. Moses if this were a correct presentation.

His written answer was "it states the facts."

Roosevelt so hated Moses for thwarting his plan that one of the most brilliant public officials of the age never was put to any use.

MUCH OF HIS adult life, Mr. Roosevelt was a cut-rate passenger on the ship of state. As Governor, on a large salary, he was exempt from the Federal income tax. As President, but still a resident of the State of New York, he was exempt from the State income tax.

Finally, I began, and carried through, a campaign to correct this discrimination. And, only when it was on its way to passage by Congress, did Roosevelt agree that this inequality should be ended.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 24—Certainly no little girl in our time has so captured the imagination of the world as Shirley Temple. The public has gone along with her, watching her develop from an adorable dimpled child to a lovely young woman. Her wedding to Sergeant Agar was one I was sorry to miss (I was on my vacation) because I have always been very fond of Shirley.

I talked to David Selznick and asked what Shirley's first picture would be as Mrs. John Agar. I thought her fans would like to know. He said "Little Women." "I haven't quite made up my mind whether to cast her as Beth or Amy," he said. "She will be tested for both roles and will play one or the other. Either Jennifer Jones or Dorothy McGuire will play Jo." I am glad David is going to remake "Little Women." It was a lovely picture when made before and there is room for more movies of this type.

WHILE I WAS away, Eric Johnston's appointment as head of the Association of Motion Picture Producers was made official. Twenty-four years ago I wrote the first interview with Will Hays after he left the President's Cabinet as Postmaster General to head the picture industry. Many things have happened since the Hays appointment. It would be unkind to say the job has outgrown him, yet I do feel we need a man who makes decisions and who doesn't stay in the middle of the road. Hays, on his side, has done much to give the motion picture industry standing with women's clubs, parent-teachers' associations and the League of Decency. On the other hand, he has been too hesitant about making important decisions, and this, I believe, Eric Johnston will remedy. He is fearless, and we need a leader of that calibre.

But fall is here, so he and the family are moving to town—Betty, to get ready to welcome another baby and Bob to make a picture. I talked with Hal Wallis and he tells me he has signed Bob for the lead in "Searching Winds." He said he read the script and liked it. Bob has left M-G-M after many years and has a contract with RKO for one picture a year and the privilege of making outside movies.

HAD DINNER with Dorothy Lamour and Maj. William Howard in San Bernardino the day before they moved to their ranch. You've never heard so much conversation about farming. Bill plans to have some race horses, and he's been given three Argentine beauties from Alberto Deodero. They have acquired many cattle and they're really going into farming in a big way. Bill's brother, Col. Ridgely Howard, gets back from overseas and he'll meet his new sister-in-law for the first time. Dorothy tells me she'll come to Hollywood for the birth of her baby, and will get here a month before the stork is due in December.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: The reconciliation between Xavier Cugat, orchestra leader, and his wife, Carmen, didn't jell. He sent for her to come out here, but when she arrived she decided it was useless and so has engaged lawyer Jerry Giesler, who will wage her battle for freedom in the courts. If I know Giesler, and I think I do, Mrs. Cugat is in safe hands insofar as a financial settlement is concerned. She looks marvelous, having lost 50 pounds. She will probably take a singing contract.

SPENT PART of my vacation with Marion Davies. Bebe Daniels and I went to see her and we had a grand time reminiscing about the good old days. Marion looks wonderful, I'm glad to tell her many fans who write and ask about her. She is very slender—thinner than she has been for some years. I asked if she weren't interested in making a picture and she said "no," but looks as well as she did when she was one of our leading comediennes on the screen. She introduced me to the game of "Monopoly," and I hate to tell on her and Bea, but I'm the champ—I won.

THE GOVERNMENT has just released the information on the important part Hollywood played in the amazingly expert and precise bombing of Japanese targets. But what hasn't come out is that Col. William Keighley, well-known director, is the inventor and developer of what is known as "Project 152" in government files. Project 152—Bill's idea—was this: After taking film camera shots of the exact target locations and areas in Japan, miniature sets were constructed on Hollywood sound stages where pilots could study every inch of the route they were to fly and familiarize themselves with every detail. Ask Tojo if the idea was a success!

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—Where do you want to go this time? The little hard-to-find places? The amusing "joints"? The glitter cellars? The new shows? (There aren't any yet worth your time or ticket money.) The big, noisy nightclubs?

Oh, you want to eat first? Well, that's easy. You can eat your way right across the island and never taste the same dish twice.

Dorothy Kilgallen

If you want sensationally different dishes, try the spaghetti with clam sauce (it tastes so much better than it sounds!) or the rich, wonderful lasagna at Riccardi's Grotto downstairs on 57th st., just west of Sixth ave. It has an unimpressive entrance, and the room is plain, but the food is wonderful—and you might order vino with it if you're feeling really festive.

Tired of lunching in a night-clubby atmosphere, all dim lights and air conditioning but not a hint that the hour is closer to noon than midnight? Refresh yourself by waltzing into the Hampshire House dining room, where it's possible to eat in genuine daylight! You can see a garden through the French windows, and the Dorothy Draper decor is gay and bright and the cook knows what he's about.

The Canton Village isn't terribly fashionable, but experts on Oriental food insist you'll go far to find more authentic Cantonese fare. The tipoff is the number of Chinese people you see wielding their chopsticks there. It must be good! (When did you last see a Chinese lady or gentleman dining at your favorite Chinese restaurant?)

* * *

AT CAFE ROYAL on the lower East Side you'll glimpse all the characters of the downtown Sardi set, from Sarah Adler and Maurice Schwartz to Molly Picon. And unless the sky falls you'll see "The Great Sarah," a neater, gentler version of Broadway Rose, who requests checks written for billions of dollars, and talks of speaking to Winston Churchill and Joseph Stalin on the telephone just a few moments ago. If you invite her to have a cocktail, "The Great Sarah" (she says she was once an actress) replies that she'd be delighted, and when you summon the waiter to take her order she says daringly, "Fruit cocktail."

Remember where Fan and Bill's used to be on 46th st., east of Lexington? Well, there's a new place on that site, and if you're battling food fatigue from too many exotic eating sprees, head for it right away. WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—When I was a kid in school we used to chronicle current romances in our set by writing on the walls of various places and things such rapturous lines as "Potsy Loves Mary," "Gooseface Is Minnie's Fellow" and "How About It, Annabelle?"

We used up a lot of chalk in these efforts and also carved a lot of fairly-expensive woodwork. Although the material was invariably spicy, and made excellent reading, it was not what you could call real literary art.

But the school children of today seem to have progressed. They don't record their romances on fences. They send them to the newspapers!

One of our most distinguished local publications has a corner devoted to this every week. Under the heading "Teen Topics Roundup" it presents the current gossip from our high schools, written—and I presume edited, although sometimes this seems doubtful—by the students themselves.

The other weekend the column was conducted jointly by two pretty young damosels, Kitty Adams and Louise Gardiner. They wrote with great dash and verve—and, if they are to be credited, their schools are practically busting out all over with Love—Love—Love.

* * *

I DO NOT KNOW when I have been so entranced as I was with the offerings of Authoress Adams and Gardiner. Here are a few of their noblest—the comments in parentheses being mine.

"Billie back from Philly into the arms of Lefty . . . What's the story on Betty and Jackie? (For Heaven's sake, what is it?) . . . Boodini in the Coast Guard—who, by the way, is interested in a certain Jo Anne (What makes Jo Anne so certain?)

"Attention, Sororities, no pledging goats until Oct. 15. (How about mules and pushcarts?) . . . What's this we hear about Pat being stranded in the middle of Severn River with 'Pepper' at 3 a. m. playing 'ghosts?' (This one has me completely beaten, and I'm afraid to guess.)

"Whose heart has Mary been breaking—could it be Jack's? . . . Pat and Foo are doing just fine (who in the devil is 'Foo?') . . . Bubbles and Phil still celebrating their year of going steady . . . What girl named Jean would like to get better acquainted with that boy named Buddy? (seems a little vague from here).

"Who does Teddie think he's fooling . . . Sharon is going steady with Bill . . . Helen still waiting for her sailor. (Don't forget—both Helen and tempus fuggitts!)"

Confound it, why couldn't my folks have been more patient and had me 30 years later? I'd have been a great writer by now—instead of being one of the best back-fence scrawlers in the business!

* * *

THE Federal Trade Commission has ordered brewers to cease representing that beer is not a fattening product, that it will "help unsnarl tangled nerves," and "relieve the strain of modern living."

But it will do so many other interesting things for you.

* * *

A NEWSBOY gathered quite a crowd around him at one of our busiest corners the other night. He kept shouting:

"No points to get out of the Army! No points to get out of the Army!"

But under his breath he added:

"If you're old enough—!"

* * *

I AM NOT what you would call a steady subscriber to the American Osteopathic Ass'n Journal because its racing selections are indifferent and I do not care about its advice to the lovelorn. However, I read a piece culled from it the other day which I think a great many husbands would do well to study. It provides a beautiful out.

Says this splendid publication: "Emotional upheavals and irrational quarreling between husbands and wives are often caused by damaged spots in the spinal column," or, in other words, "spinal tantrums."

The Journal goes on to say that judges should not grant divorces to "incompatible" couples until both have had their spines checked—and I don't mean with the check girl. No wife should become resentful because her husband suddenly hauls off and pops her in the kisser; he may just have a vertebra on crooked.

* * *

I TRIED to discuss this with the little woman after our morning workout in which she chased me three times around the living room with the andirons (time: 12:24:3; track fast).

"Hold off!" I cried, about the third lap, "you may be entirely wrong in calling me a gold-plated louse. How do you know it is not something wrong with my spine?"

"There is nothing the matter with your spine yet," snarled the little woman. "It is just your evil disposition—and you can write that in your lousy spinal column. But if I can catch up with you things will be different. I have picked out the exact three vertebra I am going to fracture."

Ouch! A little more liniment up there, nurse! The little woman is so scientific.

"So he asked you to marry him and make him happy—which did you decide to do?"

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MUSINGS: Big news, like murder, will out at this stage of our United States system of press freedom . . . It is curious, nonetheless, that sources completely unrelated one to the other, or others, often will give the leading clues to important disclosures.

* * *

WHEN THIS column carried the information a week ago today that the Japanese military code had been cracked two full weeks ahead of Pearl Harbor, and that six high officials in government and the Army and Navy including the late Commander-in-Chief Franklin D. Roosevelt, were aware of the enemy's plans and intentions, we were quoting sources so indisputably authentic that any experienced newspaperman would be compelled to credit them.

* * *

BUT THEY HAD nothing to do with the Dewey candidacy for President, or the Republican party, or, for that matter, national politics . . . The public had been told that the Japanese code had been deciphered, but at no earlier time had any hint been given that the code had been broken BEFORE Pearl Harbor

* * *

FOUR DAYS LATER, in a wire service condensation of a magazine story by a reliable editor-writer, the news was disseminated that Gov. Dewey in the presidential campaign of 1944 had been asked by Gen. Marshall to refrain from making campaign material of a subject which might well have caused Roosevelt's defeat . . . That subject was the one of the pre-Pearl Harbor cracking of the Japs' "ultra" code.

* * *

EXCEPT IN THIS COLUMN, no writer or authority yet has declared unqualifiedly that America had the full two weeks' advantage which we said would be established by the congressional joint committee as the edge we held over the Nipponese before the Pearl Harbor attack . . . In the national magazine story by John Chamberlain, which alleged that Gen. Marshall besought Gov. Dewey to resist the temptation of using the Jap code-cracking as campaign ammunition, the following pregnant sentences were included: . . . "After Nov. 27 Roosevelt and Hull knew that war was likely at any moment . . . THE INTERCEPTED JAPANESE CODE MESSAGES HERALDED A BREAK IN NEGOTIATION" . . . (Gen. Marshall has not denied the latter statement.)

* * *

THIS COLUMN DECLARED that the Jap code had been broken "two full weeks before Pearl Harbor" . . . Well, the interval between Nov. 27 and Dec. 7 amounts to 10 days . . . If the U. S. was acquainted with the Jap code Nov. 27, it is safe to assume that the code was not broken providentially on that very day—the day of the crucial Hull so-called "ultimatum" to Japan . . . In accenting the probability that the United States possessed knowledge of the code for at least four days previous to Nov. 27, we do not think we are assuming too much . . . Time and the congressional probe will establish the facts (and you may be sure it will be a thorough investigation).

* * *

TO BE DONE with the subject until the facts are inescapable, we are repeating our assertion of a week ago . . . THE UNITED STATES KNEW THE ALL-REVEALING JAPANESE CODE TWO FULL WEEKS BEFORE PEARL HARBOR . . . When Cordell Hull registered outrage and astonishment in greeting the Jap emissaries the afternoon of the Pearl Harbor assault, he was putting on an act—as far as being surprised was concerned, at any rate.

* * *

A LOCAL ANGLE on this Pearl Harbor investigation, incidentally, can be cleared up here . . . Sen. David I. Walsh definitely did not wish to be a member of the Pearl Harbor congressional joint committee . . . He has his mind and his hands full with the chairmanship of two important committees . . . But the chief reason why the senior Senator did not wish to be involved in the probe is the very one his political enemies of the "liberal" side brought up . . . He knew that whatever his judgment might be, the prewar isolationism smear would be employed . . . The Senator from Massachusetts concluded that this might mitigate against the reputation for impartiality that the investigating committee must maintain for the good of the country and future policy.

Potatoes Plentiful

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

POTATOES HAVE been especially plentiful this fall. The intermediate potatoes—those that come between the early and late crops — have been filling market bins to overflowing these past few weeks. The late crop, which makes up the bulk of the total crop, usually appears around late September or early October.

When cooking potatoes, get the best nutritive value from them by scrubbing well, then boiling in their jackets. Salt in the cooking water does not appear to preserve the potato's vitamin C, as some people have supposed; and the more salt used, the more minerals leak out from the potato during cooking.

One way to make potatoes work for you is to use them with leftover foods, preserving the nourishment of the original dish, but varying its flavor and appearance. Fish cakes and meat pie are favorite foods of a great many discerning eaters. You can combine potatoes with another food to stretch it, if you haven't got quite enough to go around. Serve potatoes in simple vegetable form, mashed, hash browned, or escalloped. Serve them in soup or salad. Any way you serve them you add vitamin C and B-1 to the diet.

POTATO CRUST

Line a baking dish with mashed potatoes. Fill center with vegetable stew and leftover bits of meat or fish. Cover with mashed potatoes. Bake in a hot oven (400 deg. F.) until hot through and brown on top. If you have just a little potato, make only the upper crust.

HASH BROWNED POTATOES

Add chopped cooked potatoes to a little fat in a frying pan. Season with salt and pepper. Moisten with water—about ¼ cup for 2 cups potatoes. Cook over low heat until brown on the bottom—don't stir. Serve folded in half. To make potato hash, add chopped meat and enough gravy or hot water to moisten. Brown on both sides.

CREAMED POTATOES

4 cups diced cooked peeled potatoes
½ tsp. salt
1 tbsp. butter or margarine
⅛ tsp. pepper
2 cups top milk or light cream
1 tsp. minced parsley

Combine potatoes, salt, butter, pepper and milk in a skillet, and cook very slowly until the milk is slightly thickened and the potatoes are hot. Sprinkle with the parsley and serve. Makes 6 servings.

POTATO SALAD

2 medium potatoes
3 slices bacon, diced
1 thinly sliced medium onion
2 tbsp. flour ½ cup vinegar
½ cup water 2 tsp. salt
Speck pepper
½ cup diced celery
3 shelled hard-cooked eggs
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing

Cook potatoes until tender. Drain, cool if desired, then peel and dice—there should be about 5 cups. Saute the bacon and onion together in a skillet over low heat until bacon is browned and onion is tender. Stir in the flour. Then add the vinegar, water, salt and pepper, and cook until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and pour over combined potatoes, celery and eggs which have been diced. Mix lightly with a fork and chill. Just before serving, stir in mayonnaise lightly with a fork. Makes 6 servings. If preferred hot, omit chilling of potatoes and salad mixture.

POTATO SOUP

2 medium-sized potatoes
2 medium-sized onions, minced
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
2 tsp. salt ⅛ tsp. pepper
3 cups potato water
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup heavy cream
⅛ tsp. nutmeg Chopped parsley

Peel and dice potatoes and cook in water to cover until tender; drain and reserve 3 cups of the liquid; force potatoes through ricer or sieve. Saute onions in butter until lightly browned; season with salt and pepper. Add with riced potatoes to reserved potato water; then add egg, cream and nutmeg mixture, and heat 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Serve hot garnished with chopped parsley. Makes 6 large servings.

New Facial Foundation

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

PAT-A-CAKE, PAT-A-CAKE . . . but it's not the baker's man who's turned out something extra special and delectable . . . but a beautician whose modern, scientific laboratory resources have perfected a makeup foundation that's actually GOOD for the skin. Two years of exhaustive research resulted in the discovery of this formula . . . and now, and only now, does this Blue Book beauty authority offer it . . . what she calls "the ultimate in a makeup foundation."

Actually we think it is a sensational new development in beauty . . . for not only has it done away with the mask-like effect sometimes produced by foundations . . . but it contributes to the nourishment of the skin, benefiting its texture all the while it beautifies it.

It comes in a solid cream cake form . . . hence the pat-a-cake idea . . . for you pat the exquisitely textured cream cake with your fingers and transmit its tinted glow to your face. Almost at once your complexion takes on a younger, smoother, softer-looking effect. Tiny blemishes, tiny lines and even light freckles are wont to vanish under its softening creamy veneer.

With it, there's no artificial, ready-to-crack, heavily-coated look . . . because this good-for-the-skin cream cake foundation is made by a special modern, yet unique formula which has been proven to be really beneficial to the skin

Many women have frowned on facial foundations . . . complaining that some of them were too drying or tending to oiliness with a resultant greasy look . . . that they never could quite achieve the effect that they were supposed to. Well, here's something that's worked into the skin . . . becomes part of the skin itself . . . helping to improve its condition as it remains fresh and lovely throughout the day.

You'll find that it takes to face powder like the proverbial duck to water . . . and that they have an affinity that is both natural-looking and smooth. And when it is removed . . . the skin is left actually fresher, prettier than before. What has gone into this remarkable and new make-up foundation I can't tell you . . . for the ingredient discovery of this formula is a laboratory secret. Suffice it to say it is a creation of one of the top names in the beauty world . . . and comes in several lush shades.

For the name of this new formula cream-cake foundation, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope

"YOU OUGHT to be in pictures" . . . and M-G-M's Maisie, Ann Sothern, is because she's so beautiful to see. Blonde and very pleasing to the eye . . . or is it the come-hither pose that fools us? . . . she has a complexion that should be the envy of every beauty-conscious girl. For a younger, smoother, softer-looking skin let a new and sensational makeup foundation help you . . . one that's as good for the skin as it is for facial beauty.

Answer to Query On 2d Nuptials

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: My husband has just returned from overseas. While he was at camp before he left, we had a civil marriage performed there and none of our families or friends were present. Now we would like to be married by a minister. Is this proper and permissible? We are both Protestants, but we are not affiliated with any church here where we now are living. If it is permissible for us to be married in church, how should we go about making the arrangements?

MIRIAM.

Indeed it is proper and permissible for you and your husband to have this ceremony performed by a minister at any time now. Look up a minister of your denomination, and consult him as to a convenient time. Decide whether you wish to have the ceremony performed in his study, in your home, or in the church. You may, if you wish, invite a few guests, members of the two families, other relatives, intimate friends.

Wife Ran Off With a 4F-er

"DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I wasn't good enough to be remembered by my wife, but she never forgot to look for the allowance sent for her and the children, while she went off with a 4F-er. She left the children, without a penny, in charge of a good neighbor. I wouldn't have known about this if friends from home hadn't written me, and now she has the nerve to ask for a divorce, which she's going to get.

"Some singer back home said the way to treat these wives is to shave their heads, and that goes for me too. Why shouldn't I fraternize with a German girl when my wife is fraternizing at home?

SATIN highlights the chic of many of the best new fall dresses, and when it's colored satin with a black dress the style importance goes up and up. Bruno, a designer who makes some of the best clothes in the market, uses this combination for dresses you'll love.

Bruno likes to use soft colors for the satin details of his good black dresses, and a wood brown is one of the best of these. The dress in our sketch has this color satin for the sides of the blouse and the deep-armhole dolman sleeves. Black sheer wool makes the rest of the waist, the wide waistline and the easy simple skirt.

The IRON HORSE drinks 401

..smoothing today's travel for you.

This is the story of a better watering trough for the Iron Horse::: a railroading advance that means fewer stops and smoother trips for you and the goods you ship.

Scooping 500 Gallons a Second!

The story began when New York Central built the first "track pan" :..an iron trough between the rails from which locomotives could scoop up, without stopping, the vast quantities of water needed to make steam. Then, recently, Central engineers set out to design a high-speed water pickup . . . so that even crack through trains could drink without slowing down.

In the laboratory and out on the line, they tested many models. And from their patient research came new scooping equipment so fast it would work at 80 miles an hour.:: so efficient it could pick up 500 gallons of water a second, a veritable Niagara to quench the mighty thirst of modern steel giants.

Today's Research Paced for Tomorrow

From high-speed water pickup to locomotive-cab radio...from automatic train control to perfected air conditioning . . . railroad research is forever increasing the comfort and safety of your travel, the speed and convenience of your freight transportation. Dozens of such improvements are working for you today; and there'll be many more aboard New York Central's finer, faster Trains of Tomorrow.

"I wuz thinkin'..."

by Izzy Ort

Yers trooly iz gittin' enuff souvenirs from the boys, both by mail and in person, to start a nice little shop on the side . . . also gittin' plenty of that foreign currency, and am amazed, flabbergasted, and even slightly perturbed (fresh from the ditchdiggin') that they won't accept the stuff thru the betting windows out at the race track. Tsk, tsk. What would Adolph say to that! . . . It's sure great to see the boys comin' back, and not less becoz one of the first places they come to iz me popular Grille here on Essex street. That's only natcheral, coz hundreds ov the kids have written me from overseas tellin' me how the times they had in me friendly Essex street House of Fun were part of the things they dreamed about "back home", less another wonderful part of wonderful, good old U. S. A. . . . Honist, fokes, that's wot they wrote, and even though me popular Grille (and a cold beer) may seem to appear a bit more wonderful than it is when you're deep in a South Pacific foxhole at a 110 degrees, there must be sumthin' about it that makes the boys end gals, in the service and out, prefer it to less popular places with the same kind of entertainment . . . Keep buyin' bonds, and keep keepin' 'em. Ort's, 25 Essex Street. ADVT.

Two Little Words, or An Appeal to Reason

By AUSTEN LAKE

WITH YOUR PATIENT PERMISSION today's sermon deals with the true meaning of DEMOCRACY, a word which our statesmen and social theorists use to whip the nation into greater patriotic energies and one which non-Democratic agencies employ to screen their monopolistic greeds. DEMOCRACY is the most used and abused noun in the national lexicon.

When we were told that we fought to save the Democratic way of life against the larcenous assaults of Fascist autocracy, it sounded fine. We went at it with both fists! But nobody bothered to explain the true meanings of Democracy or Fascism, except to regard the former as something very fine and the latter as pretty vile. So I trust it will not be a deadly bore if I give one man's notion of both, and if you disagree that is your Democratic right.

Austen Lake

As I recall my penmanship lessons in the little red school house, Democracy was "the greatest good for the greatest number" with a popular government to that end. Any arguments? No! I think we agree on that aphorism!

And we all learned so painfully from the late European Axis, Fascism is "the use of coercion and force by activist minorities to inflict their selfish interests on an unwilling, or sluggish majority." Do you agree that the original, pre-war minority gangs of Hitler, Mussolini and Franco fit that definition? I think you do!

YOU RECALL HOW THESE RABID, activist minorities of Italy, Germany and Spain infiltrated into government, first appearing as innocuous political panacea with popular appeal. They didn't look dangerous! They preached ultra-Democracy! But once installed in power they stripped off the mask of benevolence and used FEAR as their weapon. Honest speech and opinion expired! Free enterprise and initiative became captive to greed of self-willed cliques! The dismayed masses found it was too late! Democracy was dead! Fascism was born!

We Americans know that now! It cost us a quarter million dead, 750,000 wounded and billions of dollars to find out that Fascism worked like a malignant microbe through a small cut in the social skin. We watched it spread from a minor surface sore to creeping paralysis through the national blood stream until it ended in democratic paralysis. It was the germ of political polio which attacked nations already weakened by industrial, political and social excesses until the will to resist was gone. So the minority microbe of Fascism infected, multiplied and paralyzed the entire system. Well, didn't it? Sure it did!

We Americans like to believe ourselves invulnerable to Europe's distempers. We like to think, "It can't happen here." But our nation is at a low ebb of resistance after years of war, political excesses and social experiment. We too may find ourselves in an apprehensive mood to compromise with radical minorities, as did that great pre-war conciliator, England's Neville Chamberlain at Munich. That is the futile philosophy of temporary peace, "the peace in our time." So Hitler's minority opportunists struck! They relied on democratic weakness and its timidity toward strong activism.

America has its coercive minorities too, groups already busy inflicting selfish interests on a timid, conciliatory majority. The work stoppages of the United Auto Workers and their cousin union of the petroleum industry are not, and cannot be, for "the greatest good of the greatest number" at a time when America is struggling to gain a foothold on the beaches of industrial conversion.

THE THREAT IS NOT ALONE to our markets. It's also to the great, temperate majority of unionized America, the microbe of first infection which could lead to nation-wide paralysis and the political polio called "the economy of scarcities." That means the gradual dwindling of red corpuscles called "savings," the drying of tissue called "essential goods," the swelling of "inflation" and collapse of our social body. It's labor's disease as well as anybody's.

The majority of Americans ask a period of healthy postwar convalescence with harmony between labor, management and politics. That would lead to an "economy of plenty." They want to restore the bloodstream of "fluid wealth," the muscle building of "production volume" and the digestive processes of "consumer capacities." Then it will be ready and sympathetic to share profits mutually with ALL workers to the creation of higher living standards for EVERYBODY. That's the greatest good for the greatest number.

This pillar of cracker-barrel philosophy gets many letters from the labor-activists, all of which simmer down to the central thought, "We are striking for the same thing our soldiers fought for—the democratic right to a decent living scale." That is half-truth and therefore twice as dangerous. As!. our soldiers and they'll say, "We fought to oblige peoples to settle their quarrels by peaceful arbitration in conferences and by mutual concessions instead of violence and coercive force." And the same principle applies to internal quarrels of American industry—to settle disputes by honest concession, mutual tolerance and by using the strike or lockout as a final resort.

The UAW and its minority affiliated unions struck first with no appeal to reason. It launched what threatens to become a creeping paralysis with no preliminary attempt at conciliation, concession or arbitration. Meanwhile the returning soldiers look hopefully for a job and the majority of Americans wait hopefully for the Federal Doctor. Does that remind you of anything in Europe? Does that depict the difference in the two little words, Which way, America?

Strong H. C. Backfield Faces Dartmouth Test

Football roared into the sports headlines today with the first gala New England college events scheduled for Saturday. Holy Cross at Dartmouth, Tufts at Yale, Brown at Penn and Squantum Air Base at Boston College, top the list in N. E. fans' interest, and there are a host of other top games to round out the sparkling card.

Top events hereabouts will be the Crusaders' invasion of Hanover, where Tuss McLaughry's team will give the first real test to the possibly great H. C. backfield.

Some experts say the H. C. four will be the best in the East and one of the best in the land. It is composed of two former fliers, two freshmen, unlimited vigor and the average weight of these four stalwarts is 198 pounds.

Coach John "Ox" DaGrosa hopes his backfield can propel the Crusaders and pulverize the opposition. He is high on these kids, and he is not one to be stampeded into adulation.

He played his football at Colgate and held coaching berths at Georgetown and Temple before coming to Holy Cross with a stopover on the pro Eagles' bench.

His backfield strats with Quarterback Steve Conroy of Central Falls, R. I., who spent 17 months in B-25's as a gunner in the Pacific. He was a 176-pound guard at Holy Cross in 1941 and returns as a 212-pounder. That Army chow filled him out.

The captain and tailback is Stan Koslowski, who, it may be recalled, scored two touchdowns for North Carolina Pre-Flight in that opening game victory over Navy last season. As a freshman on 1943 at Holy Cross he was third leading scorer in the nation. He also was national interscholastic golf champion in 1941. He now weighs 207 pounds.

The fullback is Veto Kissell, of Nashua, N. H., who wound up at Holy Cross, although his three brothers, John, Jim and Adolph, were stars at Boston College.

Kissell is a freshman, but his 203 pounds are expected to prove valuable.

The other halfback is Joe Byers, of Philadelphia. He is a freshman and only weighs 170 pounds.

These youngsters will be around for awhile, barring injuries. Conroy has two years to go, Koslowski three and Kissell and Byers four.

The line has a pair of tackles named Roger Desrochis, who weighs 235, and Tex Donnalley, a 220-pounder, to help anchor the center of the line, which is likely to be good enough to give the backs the needed support although not as classy as the flying four who'll test Dartmouth's defensive resources.

Bierman Reveals Another Gopher Winner

Gridiron followers will get their first peek Saturday at the power teams of last season, Army, Navy, Ohio State and Notre Dame, but meanwhile the Midwest wonders if ex-Marine Bernie Bierman has come up with another Minnesota juggernaut, according to the Associated Press.

The Gophers, rolling along with the polish and precision of the elevens Bierman turned out before he joined the Marines in 1942, bowled over Missouri 34-0 in their opener Saturday.

Led by fullback Vic Kulbitski, who rammed over three touchdowns, Minnesota piled up 19 first downs and traveled 276 yards along the ground and completed five of eight passes for 81 yards.

Navy, with something extra added in Bob Hoernschmeyer of Indiana and Bob Kelly of Notre Dame, tries out the T formation against Villanova, 19-7 conquerors of Bucknell.

Ohio State, unbeaten in nine tilts last season, figures to breeze by Missouri at Columbus, while Hugh Devore gets his first test as Notre Dame coach when the Ramblers take on Illinois, which walloped Pittsburgh, 23-6.

With Yale, undefeated last season, Pennsylvania, Dartmouth, Columbia and Colgate joining the pigskin parade, the East's big games include Yale vs. Tufts, Pennsylvania vs. Brown, Dartmouth vs. Holy Cross, Columbia vs. Lafayette, Colgate vs. Rochester, Penn State vs. Muhlenberg and Pittsburgh vs. West Virginia.

Cornell, who gave Ed McKeever a successful sendoff in his Big Red coaching debut by whipping Syracuse, 26-14, takes on Temple Friday night.

Cubs-Bucs Pair Put Over; Card Series on Tomorrow

CHICAGO, Sept. 24 (AP)—The league-leading Chicago Cubs' scheduled double-header against the Pittsburgh Pirates today was postponed because of rain, but the games will be played at Pittsburgh next Saturday. Cub officials waited until an hour before playing time before calling off what would have been the final Pirate appearance of the season here. Only one game of a three-tilt set was played.

Crowding the two games into an open date at Pittsburgh Saturday still left the Cubs with seven games to play, holding game and a half lead over the Cardinals, who have six left.

The Cubs tomorrow face the Cardinals here in the opener of a dramatic, two-game series that probably will settle the pennant.

N.E. Grid Stars Give Yanks Strength for Steelers

By JACK CONWAY

The Boston Yanks will start shooting for the heights in professional football when they clash with the Pittsburgh Steelers in their opening league game of the season at Fenway Park tomorrow night. It is expected that a huge crowd will turn out to witness the contest.

The Yanks proved, as they conquered the Giants in an exhibition game at Lynn, that they have a strong club. Herb Kopf has developed a powerful, varied attack, while he has one of the best lines in the National League.

Don Currivan

The fact there will be five local players with the Yanks will add color and interest to the game. The local stars are headed by Don Currivan, who played for Frank Leahy's Boston College team in the Sugar Bowl game; Johnny Grigas, who played so brilliantly when at Holy Cross; Al Fiorentino, another Boston College Sugar Bowl hero; Augie Lio, who was a star when at Georgetown, and Joe Crowley, who played for Dartmouth.

Ted Collins and Herb Kopf recognized the fact that if the Yanks were to gain favor it would be necessary to have some local men in the lineup. Collins had hopes of having Angello Bertelli of West Springfield, former Notre Dame quarterback, but the latter signed with Los Angeles. The Yanks had drafted Bertelli, but they had not signed him to a contract.

George Smith, center, will do the kicking for the Yanks. Smith has shown exceptional ability at booting the pigskin.

George Cafego will be the club's strength on pass defense, while Johnny Martin is expected to pick up considerable ground in running attacks.

Herb Kopf, like most other football coaches, does his share of worrying. On what the Yanks have shown so far this season I do not believe Herb will add too many wrinkles to his brow this season.

McKeever's First Victory

Ed McKeever, personable Cornell coach, has reason to be satisfied with the victory of his eleven over Syracuse. Cornell showed it has plenty of football promise.

Allison Danzig, who reported the Cornell victory for the New York Times, declared that Allan Dekdebrun tossed forward passes as brilliantly as Sammy Baugh does. Danzig wrote:

"From his quarterback position in the new T-formation, Allan Dekdebrun passed as he never did before to launch Cornell's football season, and Edward McKeever's coaching regime with a 26-14 victory over Syracuse.

"The exhibition the 185-pound veteran gave for the full 60 minutes before 25,000 was worthy of Sammy Baugh and stood out signally in a game that was rather loosely played in the second half with fumbles, interceptions and blocked kicks following in profusion.

"Dekdebrun, who played at left halfback for two seasons in Carl Snavely's single wing attack, did not score any of the Cornell touchdowns, but he pitched two passes of 14 and 33 yards for scores and his passes figured in the other two touchdowns."

McKeever has always been a constructive football leader, and he is certain to attract many star players to Ithaca. Cornell will continue to grow stronger in football.

★ ★ ★

New England fans will get a glimpse of a top game on Saturday when Holy Cross will play Dartmouth at Hanover. Dartmouth has an abundance of top football material and it is expected that the "Big Green" will be favored to win.

Stan Koslowski, Holy Cross halfback, is often referred to as the "one man football team." Koslowski will receive a severe test when he runs against the powerful Dartmouth line on Saturday.

There will be many persons from Boston and Worcester who will journey to Hanover, to see the game.

Random Shots at Target

The $5,016,745 handle at Belmont on Saturday set a record that is likely to stand for the season . . . The crowd of 49,614 got a real thrill when Pot O' Luck upset the dope, beating the highly favored Pavot . . . Spangled Game showed good form as he won at Narragansett Park . . . Ray Metcalf, one of the best trainers in racing, has got Spangled Game back to top form . . . West Fleet went on to even scores with Johnny Jr. when he won at Narragansett, while Johnny Jr., who fouled him at Suffolk Downs, ran out of the money.

Two more weeks of racing at Narragansett Park, and the thoroughbreds go to Rockingham Park for the closing six-weeks meeting of the New England season . . . Then Florida . . . I am beginning to feel sand in my shoes.

Harridge Acts On Nat Protest

CHICAGO, Sept. 24 (AP)—Will Harridge today refused to entertain a formal protest by the Senators over their defeat by Philadelphia in the first game of yesterday's doubleheader at Philadelphia.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—Will Harridge, A. L. head, today took immediate action on a formal protest by Washington over its 4-3 12-inning loss to Philadelphia in the first game of yesterday's double-header.

Owner Clark Griffith protested an umpire's decision that Buddy Lewis, Washington outfielder, dropped a fly ball in the eighth inning. This set off a Philadelphia rally which figured vitally in the outcome.

After talking with Harridge by telephone, Griffith said that "he is going to discuss the matter with his umpires and call me back."

Gildea Petitions for Trade School Boys

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Everett High School is going to have another typical Gildea eleven. It's going to be a heavy, powerful, hard-hitting outfit. It's going to capture more than its share of victories this season—possibly enough to move into the State and the Class A championships.

Still, Coach Dennie Gildea isn't satisfied and he's gone so far as to petition the Headmasters' Ass'n (that feared and domineering body) for more assistance.

This petition, in the form of a questionnaire, should be now in the hands of the Ass'n. It's a request for a clarification of the rulings on the Everett Trade School boys who are not eligible for the high school team. Coach Gildea feels that as they are competing for a regular high school diploma, they should be allowed to play in accordance with the eligibility rules as set down by the Ass'n.

And just in case Coach Gildea wins his case, he has two linemen — Izzy SanPhillippo, 195-pound tackle, and Art Gennerazzo, 160-pound sophomore guard—ready to step into the line-up. Gennerazzo's brother was an all-scholastic at Chelsea last season and, according to Coach Gildea, this youngster of the family is a carbon copy.

Actually, you couldn't blame him for asking for a couple of boys like that! And there may be plenty more in the Trade School who never bothered to report. Waltham's Trade School boys play. Coach Gildea asks—"Why not Everett?"

Everett has the remainder of this week to work out before opening its campaign against Somerville Saturday. That's why there is still experimenting with guard Ed Connolly, 220 pounds, and veteran Tom Supple, 180-pound end. Supple was late reporting so he has to fight his way to a starting position against Frank Lionette, 175, and Amando Mazzone, 190.

Connolly's weight just isn't enough to clinch a starting berth. His opposition is flying Dick Giardana, 220-pound letterman, and Dom Liotta, 185 pound veteran, who may prove too strong to be replaced.

Everett's tackles will be the veterans Dick Ringdahl, 185 pounds, and Tony Mazzone, 220, a cousin of his namesake on the end. Veteran Bill Vesprini, 175-pound co-captain, will be back at center to complete a line that averages over 194 pounds—including the two reserves, whoever they may be Saturday.

Co-captain Art Coggio, 150, will be handling the ball in the T formation. He'll have his uncle Lou Romboli, brother of Al and Rudy, and Frank Merenda, 138, at the halves with Sam D'Agostino, 155, at full. Romboli, 165, is fast and shifty but Merenda may outdo him in both departments. All can pass. Coggio and Romboli will do the kicking.

The second backfield, all passers with two kickers, includes quarterback George Strahan, 158; left half back Bob Murray, 145; right half back Don DiMott, 168, and full back Ed Comerford, 160. DiMott and Comeford kick.

Other Everett players who will see action include: backs—Herb Haines, Frank Gaurino, Bill Childs, Tony Pendola, Bill Gochis, Emil Barbarti, John Penny, Bob Merola; ends—Howard Huston, James Carroll, Tony Dell Isola (cousin of Johnnie); tackles—Andy Babikian, Henry Cappuccio, John Morley, Edgar Ross; guards—Jim Bond, Joe Nee, Phil Puopolo and center Eddie Lio.

Everett's schedule, after Somerville, lists: Oct. 6, open; Oct. 13, Salem; Oct. 20, Classical; Oct. 27, Medford; Nov. 3, Waltham; Nov. 10, Lynn English; Nov. 17, Malden and Nov. 22, Chelsea.
